Score of Ogden Business Men Announce Firms Will Enter Procession

Nearly twenty business establishments already have announced they would have representatives in the community pageant "Ogden on the March," the feature of the first day of Ogden's community festival next Friday and Saturday.

These establishments will be represented in the section of the pageant which will depict Ogden's contribution to the industry and commerce of the nation.

Among those who will participate are the following:
Metropolitan Life Insurance company.
Ashton Fire Brick & Tile company.
Blackman and Griffin company.
Boyle Furniture company.
A. L. Brewer company.
Consolidated Wagon and Machine company.
W. H. Wright and Sons company.
John Scowcroft & Sons company.
Ogden Baking company.
Ogden Wholesale Drug company.
Utah Bottling Works.
Washington Market.
Shupe-Williams Candy company.
"Billy" Lee is to be stage manager of the events at Central park and this expert theatrical man is already at work on the stage.

The Martha Society will be represented in the pageant of "Ogden on the March." Sixty children will be in the group and they will be given a special space in the audience at the City Hall park to witness the final spectacle there.

Commander Moses of the American Legion announces that Herman Baker post will be represented in the pageant. The committee in charge of marshalling the members is composed of: Lewis Royle, Owen Sherwood, Bernard De Voto, David Scott, chairman.
Superintendent Hopkins of the public schools announced that the public schools will be suitably represented. A float depicting the Crusaders of Health will be entered and the high school cadets will march in uniform with the band, under the leadership of Lieutenant Every. In the recreation division of the procession, sixty girls in gymnasium costumes will march, emphasizing the idea that "Ogden girls keep physically fit."

PORKY WANDERS ABOUT DOWNTOWN DURING THE NIGHT

A large porcupine, apparently tired of the lonely life in the hills, came on a sightseeing trip to Ogden last night and wandered about Washington avenue until dawn this morning.

Not understanding traffic regulations, the porcupine got in the way of an automobile at 7:30 o'clock and two of the wheels passed over his neck. The animal, shocked over his predicament, hopped practically all of his quills in an endeavor to get revenge on the tire, but failed to produce the desired effect. He was saved by the accident, but continued in his wanderings over the curb and onto the sidewalk in front of the Grill Market, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth street. The porcupine tried to get into the market, but the doors were locked. He remained at the door while early risers passed along the street surrounding him. He gave him the "once over." A bear, recently killed in Weber county, was on display in the store window, but few persons would believe that the porcupine wanted to get into the store to be near his dead friend of the hills.

S. P. Shop Worker Re-enlists in Navy

H. O. Martin, an employee of the Southern Pacific shops of Ogden, re-enlisted at the navy recruiting station today as a fireman, first class, for the machinist school at the naval operating base, Hampton Roads, Va., going in for three years. Martin's home is in Chico, Cal. Others who joined today were M. H. Jones of Deweyville, Utah, three-year enlistment as apprentice seaman for electrician trade, and Jack Stone of Green River, Wyo., for two-year enlistment in the hospital corps. Jones went to Mare Island and Stone to Goat Island, Cal.

The commander of the electrician training school at Mare Island reported to the Ogden office that seven young men sent from this city, H. E. Butler, B. C. Peterson, L. R. Wright, H. O. Davidson, H. C. Edson, W. L. Wardley and Frank Cowlishaw, had taken up their studies at the school.

Feast of Tabernacles Closes This Evening

Jewish residents of Ogden who are observing the Feast of the Tabernacles will bring their services to a close tonight. Rabbi L. Lehrer of Congregation B'nai Shalom has been conducting the services since Sunday evening, the celebration covering three days.

Nebraskans to Make Their Home in Ogden

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Frederick of Fairbury, Neb., arrived in Ogden this morning to make this city their home. Mr. Frederick was formerly a conductor and official of the Rock Island railroad, and during his railroad career became a close friend of J. Ray Ward, commissioner of public safety in Ogden.

Want Canyon Homes Guarded in Winter

Requesting that a deputy sheriff be placed in Ogden canyon during the winter months to guard homes and their contents while the owners are away, William Wilson appeared before the board of county commissioners yesterday. He asked the county to pay a portion of the salary of an officer and stated that owners of homes would likely furnish the balance. The board took the matter under advisement.

Takes Tonic and Gets Fined $50 in Court

J. W. McDowell told City Judge D. R. Roberts this morning, following his arraignment charged with drunkenness, that he had partaken of a tonic recommended by a friend. The judge intimated that McDowell was "tired" to an excess and fined him $50.

FLOWERS THAT NEVER WILT FOR 'MY LADY FAIR'

Not to be outdone by the "boys" of Ogden, who recently almost unanimously adopted the "jazz-bow" tie as a means of cutting down the high cost of living in neckwear, young women of the city have even gone one better in keeping the old High Cost where he belongs.

The latest fad among the girls is wearing of small bouquets of flowers, not from the perfumed gardens of florists, but flowers, leaves and stems, knitted into a pretty little luncheon from yarn.

Within the past few weeks the latest system of floral decoration has taken the feminine sex by storm and the bouquets are now for sale at practically all Ogden stores.

The fad promises to become also popular among the young men who pay frequent calls upon the girls. In these days of high prices, would not choose a bouquet which would last until wear and tear frayed its tines, instead of flowers that would wilt and would need replacing with each call.

Hodcarriers' Clerk to Be Tried Oct. 19

Charged with misappropriating dues paid him by members of his organization, John Melrose, clerk of the Hodcarriers' union, pleaded not guilty before Judge D. R. Roberts of the city court this morning.

Melrose is alleged to have taken dues amounting to $4.50. Attorney W. H. Reeder Jr., entered his appearance as attorney for the defendant.

The case was set for trial Tuesday, October 19.

Although the complaint against Melrose charges him with embezzlement, the charge is not a felony, it is said. Judge Roberts reduced the original bail of $1,000 to $100 upon being told that the charge was for misdemeanor.

Grazing Expert Says Cattle in Good Shape

Ernest Winkler, grazing expert, has returned to the Ogden forest service office following a trip over the Minidoka forest in Idaho.

Beef roundups are being made on practically all districts of the forest and the cattle look exceptionally well this season, he reports. Heavy storms have covered most of the forest with a light covering of snow, he said.

Logan-Garden City Highway Is Closed

To replace several old bridges and improve the old Horseshoe Bend highway, the Logan-Garden City road has been closed to through traffic, according to local forest service advisers.

The road will be open for approximately 15 miles from Logan. The work of repairing bridges and grading the curve will take about a month, it is estimated.

Williams Gets Thirty Days in County Jail

An amended complaint having been filed in the case of Jack Williams, reducing a charge from burglary in the second degree to petty larceny, Williams yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty before Judge A. E. Pratt, and was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail. The man has already served fifty-two days while awaiting trial.

Williams was charged with having broken into the Patris club rooms on the night of August 5 with intent to commit robbery. When arraigned he pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea yesterday when the charge was reduced.

Berthana Opens for Season Wednesday; Dances Twice Weekly

Considerable interest is evinced in the announcement of Manager J. F. Goss that the dance season will open at the Berthana tomorrow night.

Miss Lillian Thatcher will be in charge of the Berthana orchestra again this season. She has only recently returned from California where she gathered new ideas for dances from the coast dance halls. The orchestra will be stationed in the center of the floor, instead of on the balcony bringing the music closer to the dancers. Special features and music will mark the opening dance tomorrow.

Dances will be held every Wednesday and Saturday evenings throughout the winter.

Charles S. Noble will be the floor manager at the Berthana this year, Manager Goss announced.—Adv.

New Forester Takes Up His Duties Here

R. H. Rutledge assumed his duties as district forester of district No. 4 yesterday. The personnel of the forest headquarters became acquainted with him and extended welcomes to the new chief.

Mr. Rutledge, according to a former employee of district No. 1, was popular at the Missoula headquarters and his departure was looked upon by his subordinates as a decided loss to the district.
